

DOCUMENT NAME: COUNCIL OF DEATH? (Draft document) published by Rugby Relics Ltd

DOCUMENT SUMMARY: This document provides evidence of NPTC Planning Department historical malpractice. It names council employees Steve Ball, Ceri Morris and Nicola Pearce along with Councillors Rob Jones, Del Morgan and Simon Knoyle as deliberately covering up this malpractice.

DOCUMENT SUBMITTED TO: Planning Committee and the Glynneath NPTC Councillors Del Morgan & Simon Knoyle on 7 September 2020. The document was also submitted to Glynneath Town Council in October 2020 and made public by us on-line in October 2020.

PROOF OF DELIVERY: recorded delivery, also the document was mentioned but not discussed in the planning committee meeting of 8/9/2020. An email reply was received confirming receipt of the document from the Town Clerk at the Glynneath Town Council.

ANTICIPATED RESPONSE: We expected the information within the document to be checked and validated by NPTC and an investigation to take place into why the public officials mentioned in the document previous to its publication failed to support the residents surrounding the Heol y Glyn landfill site in line with the council's purpose. We expected the local councillors to undertake due diligence with regard to the historical malpractice which failed to safeguard Glynneath residents.

ACTUAL RESPONSE: The contents of the document were ignored and the three councillors mentioned issued a statement on social media in their role as councillors discrediting the document. They refused to back up their statements with documentary evidence to counter its findings. There has been no counter evidence received from NPTC or GTC to dispute the document's findings since the council first received it on 7 September 2020.
