To: Dai Richards <dairichardswales@gmail.com>

Dear Mr Richards,

Thank you for your email.

I note the comments and allegations raised in your correspondence. However, the Council Tax Department's role is limited to the administration, billing and recovery of Council Tax in accordance with the Local Government Finance Act 1992 and the Council Tax (Administration and Enforcement) Regulations 1992.

The accounts referred to have been administered based on the information held by the Council. Where amendments to account details have been required, these have been made following review of the information available. If you wish to dispute liability for any Council Tax account, supporting evidence must be provided through the appropriate channels so that the matter can be considered. In the absence of such evidence, recovery action will continue in accordance with the relevant legislation.

The wider allegations contained in your email regarding planning matters, environmental issues, criminal conduct, public authorities, enforcement agents and other organisations do not fall within the remit of the Council Tax Department. As previously advised, we will not enter into further correspondence regarding matters that are unrelated to the administration of your Council Tax accounts.

The outstanding Council Tax debts remain payable. Liability Orders have been obtained and the accounts have been passed to Andrew James Enforcement Ltd for recovery. Any proposals for repayment must now be discussed directly with the enforcement agents using the contact details previously provided.

As the Council's position has been clearly explained, no further responses will be issued by the Council Tax Department regarding the matters raised in your recent correspondence unless you provide new information that is directly relevant to the administration of your Council Tax liability.

Yours sincerely,

Mr C. Watkins
